20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The Clean Air Act Advisory Committee (CAAAC) provides advice and recommendations to EPA on important policy issues related to air quality management in the United States. In the first quarter of FY 2018, the CAAAC full committee held an in-person meeting in December. At that meeting, CAAAC discussed a number of topics related to clean air policy and programs, including EPA's response to the CAAAC Air Toxics Report, international air quality issues such as embassy monitoring and the Kigali agreement, the Protective Action Guide for radiation, E-Enterprise, diesel emissions, and the ozone and PM advance programs. In addition, the MSTRS subcommittee held an in-person meeting in October 2016 to hear updates from the Ports and MOVES model workgroups, and to discuss issues related to connected automated vehicles and shared mobility. In May 2018 the MSTRS met again in person to discuss updates from the same two workgroups, as well as Air quality modeling research, higher performing lubricants, and Car2Go.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

The CAAAC is composed of senior representatives from a diverse group of the federal government, state, tribal and local government, academic institutions, unions, environmental and public interest groups, industries, and trade associations. This membership provides a balance between public and private segments of society affected by, and interested in, the implementation of the Clean Air Act. The Mobile Sources Technical Review Subcommittee (MSTRS) has representation from each of these stakeholder groups as well.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

The CAAAC (Full Committee) meets approximately two to three times each year to advise on air issues related to the implementation of the Clean Air Act. The Mobile Sources Technical Review Subcommittee (MSTRS) meets twice annually. Workgroups have more frequent meetings to accomplish their charges. The Subcommittee on Permits, New Source Review, and Toxics typically meets when the CAAAC meets, but sometimes a subcommittee workgroup meets in lieu of the full subcommittee. In FY18, the full committee met once and the MSTRS subcommittee met twice. All 3 meetings were in person, for one day, in Washington, D.C.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The functions of the CAAAC cannot be performed within the Agency. They are also not obtainable by other means such as public hearings, which are by their nature anecdotal, not deliberative, and do not include substantial conversation and discussion. The CAAAC provides consensus advice and counsel to the Agency on the complex topics of effective air quality implementation and management, while also augmenting stakeholder input that the agency receives in other forums. The members of the CAAAC, MSTRS, and work groups volunteer on average over a quarter million dollars worth of time and effort participating in the CAAAC's efforts.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

NA

21. Remarks

The committee continues to provide useful feedback and recommendations to the EPA.

Narrative Description

The CAAAC directly supports EPA's mission and strategic plan by providing advice on implementation of the Clean Air Act. The CAAAC has provided advice and recommendations to EPA on important policy issues related to air quality management in the United States. In the first quarter of FY 2018, the CAAAC full committee held an in-person meeting in December. At that meeting, CAAAC discussed a number of topics related to clean air policy and programs, including EPA's response to the CAAAC Air Toxics Report, international air quality issues such as embassy monitoring and the Kigali agreement, the Protective Action Guide for radiation, E-Enterprise, diesel emissions, and the ozone and PM advance programs. In addition, the MSTRS subcommittee held an in-person meeting in October 2016 to hear updates from the Ports and MOVES model workgroups, and to discuss issues related to connected automated vehicles and shared mobility. In May 2018 the MSTRS met again in person to discuss updates from the same two workgroups, as well as Air quality modeling research, higher performing lubricants, and Car2Go.
